

Situation: You are Alfred Cheung, an intern at the Cultural Museum. The museum is now preparing for a new special exhibition, read the following information and complete the task given to you by your boss, Marcus.

Email from Marcus

Dear Alfred,

As you may know, we will be hosting the videogame exhibition soon. I am proud of what we have achieved this time and I want as many people as possible to see our hard work. I want you to write an article to be posted on the museum blog to introduce people to the exhibition. Please include:

- The details of the exhibition (location, time, entry fee)
- Information of our main exhibit – Stari 260
Make sure the readers know what is so special about it and what they can experience.
- Our special event, you may want to look at the meeting minutes for this
Introduce what guests will do and what they can win.

Thanks!

Best regards,

Marcus

Meeting Minutes

Date: 14-2-2024

Time: 2:00PM

Attendees: Marcus, Museum Head

Oscar, Operations Head

Jeff, Public Relations Head

Sam, Technical Department Head

Item 1: GameGirl competition

Oscar proposed that the special event of the upcoming videogame exhibition should be a competition of the games from the classic game console GameGirl. All in agree.

Sam raised a concern that only a few games can be installed at a time. Sam proposed to pick 3 games to install on the consoles. Marcus proposed the 3 games should be the favourites picked by the public via an online poll. All in agree.

Awards are to be arranged by Jeff.

Item 2: Main exhibit item – Stari 260

Oscar mentioned the owner of the console is concerned about damage to the console caused by visitors. Oscar proposed to allocate staff to organise and supervise visitors when they are playing the console. All in agree.

Poster for videogame exhibition

Old Games, New Charms – Videogame exhibition @ Cultural Museum

Let's celebrate the culture created by our favourite classic videogames in this exhibition. If you are young, perhaps it's time for you to see what your parents played.

Location: L2 Hall, Cultural Museum
Time: 6/3/2024 – 31/3/2024
Entrance fee: $30 Adults;
free for seniors and children under 12

Blog on videogame history

The Atari 2600 is a home video game console developed and produced by Atari, Inc. Released in September 1977, it is the first ever game console that people can buy. Initially, there was only one game available, which was 'pong'. Within a year, the number has gradually grown to 50 games.

Unfortunately, the Atari 2600 was a short-lived console. Its production was ended in 1979, just two years after its release when the newer Atari 5200 came out. With the schematics lost to time, many Atari 2600 consoles broke down and no one was able to fix them. It is estimated that there remain 40 original and functional Atari 2600 consoles in the world.

Online poll for favourite GameGirl games

www.hkculturalmuseum.com/videogame/poll

Your favourite videogames! (on the GameGirl)

	Game	Votes
1	Kart Girl	1600
2	Super Girl 64	1256
3	Celeste	1200
4	Those Who Remain	852
5	Half Life	667

Email from Jeff

Dear Alfred,

I have arranged the awards for the winners of the GameGirl competition. The highest scorer of each game will receive a special edition GameGirl in a mystery shade of colour. We will ask them for their phone number when they purchase the ticket and that's how we will find them after the exhibition to deliver the prizes. Make sure you include that in the article so visitors know to lookout for our phone calls to redeem their gifts.

Best regards,
Jeffy